EDITOR'S Letter

As we step into this new year, the eternal wheel of Kalchakra turns once more, reminding us that time is not merely a passing of days but the unfolding of Karma through divine rhythm.

The world around us continues to change rapidly—technologically, politically, and emotionally—but astrology remains a steadfast compass, offering both clarity and comfort.

This year's edition of Stellar Talk is dedicated to decoding those subtle karmic patterns that shape both personal and collective destinies. In these pages, our learned contributors bring together predictions, planetary insights, and ancient wisdom drawn from the Nakshatras, Dashas, and Yogas. So that readers may walk the path of the coming year with clarity and consciousness.

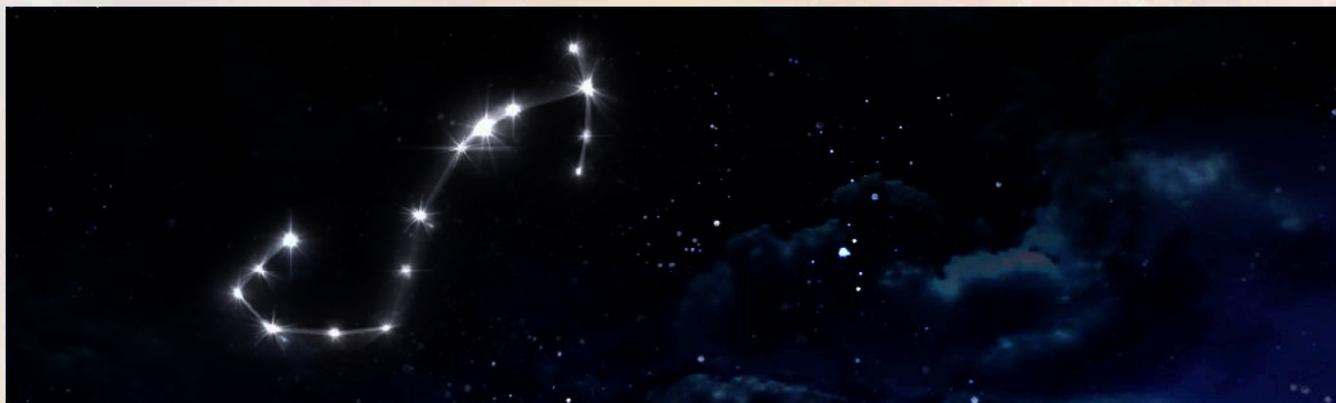

We strive to make astrology a tool of self-awareness, national insight, and spiritual progress, rather than mere prediction. Our focus remains on bringing clarity, authenticity, and karmic understanding to every seeker who turns these pages. From defence and diplomacy to economic and political developments, and from stock and commodity trends to the subtle shifts in collective consciousness. This edition seeks to present astrology not as superstition, but as a disciplined science of timing, destiny, and insight.

To engage our readers and students of astrology more deeply, this year we introduce an Astrological Quiz Section — designed to test and refine your understanding of Jyotish interpretation.

We also present insights into the commodity markets, focusing on metals, energy, and agricultural cycles as seen through the lens of Graha Bala and Nakshatra Tattva.

Sri Narasimha Rao has presented his original research in this edition, that brings remarkable clarity to the complex domain of Mundane Astrology. By systematically explaining applied predictive techniques, he offers a structured way to analyze and foresee the rise and fall of nations. His work establishes a new framework for interpreting mundane data, simplifying it through well-defined formulas and logical models, and thereby setting a fresh, more practical direction for serious geopolitical astrological analysis.

There are very few people today who truly understand astronomy and decode the Ramayan and Mahabharat for our generation by treating them as history, not just mythology. One such person is Shri Manish Pandit; whose fact-based approach stands apart from unverified claims and encourages respectful, evidence-driven understanding of our Dharma. Shri Manish Pandit brilliantly decodes the most fascinating sections of the Mahabharata by correlating its events with precise planetary positions and calendar calculations. He beautifully connects every dot through astrological evidence, while staying faithful to the original sources of the Mahabharata.

For astrology learners, Shri Narahari Katti explains a very interesting and ancient technique that offers a new way to understand a person's professional life through the horoscope. It shows how different Devatas are connected to each degree of the Rashi and how this connection can reveal deep insights about our career direction and life path.

Shri Pankaj Kashyap decodes the intricacies of past life karmic patterns associated with Saturn Retrograde and explains practical ways to balance them in present life. This myth busting and predictive article dismantles the fear driven narratives about Saturn Retrograde, offering clarity rather than superstition. The article clears long standing misconceptions and presents Saturn Retrograde as a powerful tool for karmic correction and growth rather than something to be feared.

Contribution of Guest Astrologers will help thousands of students develop a scientific and disciplined understanding of astrology.

Each turning of the celestial wheel brings with it a silent reminder, that human life is not merely a sequence of events, but a precise unfolding of Karma under the watchful gaze of the Grahas. The divine science of Jyotish Shastra stands as a timeless mirror, reflecting the interaction between cosmic order (Rita) and individual destiny (Prarabdha).

May the Jyotir Vidya, the knowledge of divine light, illuminate our path through uncertainty.

World in 2026

As the world approaches 2026, the geopolitical landscape is marked by accelerating transitions, strategic realignments among major powers, growing economic polarisation, technological rivalries, and the resurgence of hard security anxieties. Russia comes out of negotiating the consequences of prolonged military engagement and economic sanctions, attempting to reassert influence across Eurasia.

China advances its ambition to redefine international governance frameworks while coping with economic slowdown and rising geopolitical scrutiny. Nations such as Pakistan grapple with internal fragility and external dependencies, while Israel remains entangled in the complex dynamics of regional security. Meanwhile, the United Kingdom navigates a post-Brexit identity crisis, seeking new relevance within a shifting global marketplace.

Each passing year, the world appears to be sinking deeper into economic uncertainty, geopolitical conflict, and social unrest. The escalating turbulence is not merely circumstantial; it reflects a profound cosmic rhythm. In classical astrology, such periods of heightened global disruption are associated with Jupiter's Atichari motion—a phase when the planet accelerates far beyond its normal pace.

Ordinarily, Jupiter advances at a measured speed of approximately 4 minutes of arc per day, but in 2026 it is expected to move at more than twice its usual velocity, propelling a dramatic energetic shift across the globe. When the most benevolent and expansive of planets rushes unnaturally fast, its stabilizing influence diminishes, and the qualities it governs like wisdom, prosperity, balance, and human optimism, begin to fade from collective consciousness.

Astrologically, Jupiter symbolizes harmony, growth, and universal well-being; when its motion becomes erratic, the world tends to mirror that imbalance. The period from now until 2032 has been identified as one of prolonged Atichari influence, suggesting that the intensification of global disorder may continue in progressive waves, each year heavier than the last. Historical cycles reinforce this interpretation: during the era of the Mahabharata, Jupiter was similarly atichari, and the world witnessed one of the most cataclysmic wars recorded in ancient tradition. In more recent history, during the COVID-19 pandemic years(2019–2021), Jupiter again experienced phases of abnormal acceleration, and humanity endured unprecedented loss, suffering, and socio-economic collapse.
